

Appendix

215 Facial recognition to verify identity (changes tracked)

(1) In this section

“facial recognition software” means software that measures the unique invariable characteristics of a person’s face and compares them with other such measurements of the same person or other persons. « logiciel de reconnaissance faciale »

(2) In accordance with the regulations, the registrar may, only in exercising their powers and performing their duties and functions under this Act, use facial recognition software ~~or any other prescribed technology based means of identity verification~~ for ~~any of~~ the following purposes:

- (a) to verify or confirm the identity of a person who applies for or holds
  - (i) a driver’s licence, or
  - (ii) a general identification card;
- (b) to maintain the integrity of the registry or prevent abuse of the registry;
- (c) to contribute to the prevention of identity theft and fraud.

(3) For the purposes set out in subsection (2), the registrar may compare the photograph of a person who applies for or holds a driver’s licence or identification card to ~~other photographs of the person or to the photographs of other persons that are contained in the registry.~~

- (a) other photographs of the person that are contained in the registry; or
- (b) the photographs of other persons that are contained in the registry.

(4) The Commissioner in Executive Council may make regulations ~~respecting facial recognition software and identity verification, including~~

- (ae) prescribing administrative, technical and physical safeguards that the registrar must adopt
  - (i) to protect the confidentiality, security, accuracy and integrity of information about persons obtained by facial recognition software and other technology based means of identity verification, and
  - (ii) to protect the privacy of persons to whom the information referred to in subparagraph (i) relates; and
- ~~(a) respecting the use of other technology based means of identity verification;~~

- (b) authorizing the registrar to make facial recognition software ~~and other technology based means of identity verification~~ available to issuers as defined in section 210, specified persons, or persons belonging to particular classes of persons;